END OF LISTENING 2

8. You are back in the time machine. But there's a problem! The time machine isn't working 😞. You see these instructions on the screen, but they're in the wrong order! Put them in the right order to make it work and take you to the next stage.

The image shows a futuristic time machine cockpit. In the center is a console with two joysticks and a small screen. A large, light blue instruction box floats in the air, containing five numbered steps (A-E) that are out of order. Below the console, a vertical panel displays five numbered checkboxes for reordering the instructions. The cockpit's view shows a dark space with stars and a large, cratered moon.

A: Put on your safety kit. You're ready to go!!!!

B: First of all, find the key, which is under the keyboard.

C: Put these into the computer and wait for the next instructions.

D: Then, push the red button at the same time as the blue one and memorize the numbers you see on the screen.

E: Next, put it in the lock and turn it sharply to the right.

Well done! The machine worked and you have travelled back to the future... You open the door of the last room and, to your great surprise, you realise that you are on an island! You look around, wondering what to do to escape this place. Suddenly you spot a bottle on the ground and pick it up. Inside you find an old and faded letter. Filled with curiosity, you pull it out.

Read what it says:

Dear Vivian,

I am your great granddaughter and although you will never meet me in person, I have heard a lot about you. Thanks to you bringing up four happy and fulfilled children, a whole generation of Browns now exist. Many have had their own families and all have enjoyed their journey through life and all of this, in part, is because of you.

Now, I would like to tell you a little about myself. I studied in a military academy for 5 years before deciding I didn't want to work in the military and nowadays I am a pilot, working for Philadelphia Airlines. I also have a husband, who is a police officer. We have three very different but unique children, and though it's difficult combining our working and family lives, we manage, I hope and I think, with a good degree of success.

I travel a lot for my job and I have to say that when I do, I miss my children, and each time I don't get to see a ballet recital or a soccer match, I wonder if I'm doing the right thing. However, we always make sure if I'm not there, my husband is, and our children feel supported. I also think it's important to give them a good model and that they see there are no limits as to what they can achieve.

So I guess the reason I'm writing is just to let you know how glad I am you finally changed your mind about women's right to vote. That was such an important precedent for us and thanks to people like you, I am where I am now.

I would have loved to meet you in person but enjoy thinking that you form a part of each and every one of my children, and I love the idea that you will live on, generation after generation.

Well, that's all for now. Thanks for the pumpkin pie recipe. It's fabulous!

Love,

Jennifer

Now you've read this, your mission is to put the letter back in the time machine, so that Vivian can read it. To do so, complete the form to make sure you've understood the message.

9. Decide if the following answers are true or false:

	TRUE	FALSE
1. Jennifer doesn't know much about Vivian.
2. Vivian's husband is a police officer.
3. Jennifer always misses her children's out of school activities because of travel.
4. Jennifer has doubts about working and being a mother.
5. Jennifer invented the recipe for pumpkin pie.

10. What is Vivian's relationship to Jennifer?

- A She's her great granddaughter.
- B She's her granddaughter.
- C She's her great grandmother.
- D She's her mother's mother.

11. Which of these sentences about Jennifer is correct?

- A She made a decision to change the course of her career.
- B She's working as a military pilot.
- C She stopped being a pilot to look after her children.
- D She used to travel a lot in her military years.

CONGRATULATIONS! You managed to get out of the Escape Room in time and you are back at home. You enjoyed your experience so much that you are looking on a blog to see if you can find an Escape Room to celebrate your birthday in.

A: Fright night! I went to this Escape Room with my friends and it was absolutely brilliant! Masked actors jump out at you and give you the fright of your life, and the puzzles you have to solve are so well thought out, you really have to work as a team too. I definitely recommend it.

B: The Maze: I went here last month with my classmates and it wasn't quite what I had expected. We had to solve clues to find our way out and, actually they were pretty hard. You really needed to think. If you want an easy, entertaining afternoon, this is not the place for you.

C: Underwater dive: In this room, survival is the key. You have to be patient and not let the time pressure get to you. The surroundings are amazing and you actually believe you are a scuba diver! This room is great for people who want to enjoy the underwater world without even having to get wet.

D: The Nature Train: Travel is the name of the game in this cool new Escape Room. However, it's not really a room. It's a train that passes through the Grand Canyon, with amazing views of the spectacular wildlife. You must find out who the killer is, doing a whole load of very different tasks. No good for people who get sick easily, as the constant movement of the wagons can be a bit much.

12. Read these reviews and choose the Escape Room you think each of your friends would like.

		Write A, B, C or D
	Tom gets dizzy easily. He loves to work against the clock.
	Emily loves horror movies and solving problems.
	Justin loves nature and water sports. He hates working under pressure.
	Martha loves a challenge. The more difficult, the better.

13. Look at this conversation. Invite your friend to the Escape Room you have chosen. Complete the conversation with appropriate information.
